Ocean Breezes

In the secluded cottage window,
breezes from the ocean wisp through the fine-spun curtains,
causing them to loop and werve.

Gray, shingled walls surround the weather-worn pane.

Beyond the frame, dunes of white sand rest below the vanishing sun.

Beech grasses sway in the ocean breeze and seagulls fly high against the darkening sky.

By the cresting shore, scattered shells lie amid green and brown seaweeds.

The End

Shadow

Before the birds begin to wake
from their sound slumber,
my performance has already begun.

I love the sunshine
as it gleams down upon us,
for my whole existance revolves around it.

My skin is dark,
my clothes are dark,
but my friends are all colors.

My friends will never hurt me,
so I must be true to them.

I never speak.

Imitating them is always a very good way
to make sure we have no troubles.

I only hang around
when the weather is nice;
and when I decide to,
I often go unnoticed.

When the sun is ready to settle down
beyond the mountain peaks,
It's time for me to say good-bye.

I Am A Mirror

I hold the image of
many different people.
I am a handsome boy.
I am a little girl.
I am what you are.

I watch conceited people
that look at me all day.
Yet, there are people who are afraid to look at me.
I like to watch and see
how you react to me.

I see bright, happy
faces with love on their minds.
I see sad, gloomy people.
I see you. I am you.

Chris Diaz

Good-by

Junior High is almost over for me
then I'll go to high school to consider what I will be.

I might study science or maybe geography.

But whatever I decide, I hope
it is best for me.

In my work, I'll put an awful lot
of care,
and then I'll go to college to study my career.
